ADOPT MEMORIAL TO DEAD MEMBERS

Survivors of Constitutional Convention Pay Tribute to Those Gone Before.

The following memorial to deceased members of the Constitutional Convention was presented to the meeting of survivors yesterday by the appropriate committee, composed of former Governor William E. Cameron and Preston W. Campbell, and unanimously adopted:

Mr. President: We would be unworthy of this occasion, of ourselves, and, most of all to them, if we failed to pay "the passing tribute of a sigh" to the memory of our colleagues who, as we fondly believe, have now attained membership of the general assembly of saints.

We unite in a chorus of kindly greetings as we look upon familiar faces and clasp hands in fellowship, but, as always, the chorus has a minor chord, and we must "turn from those it brought to those it cannot bring."

Death, with impartial but relentless footstep has made sad havoc in our ranks since we met in the Capitol twelve years since to devote our energies to patriotic duty. Of the 160 members of the convention, were there roll call sounded now, only echoes would respond to the names of thirty-two—nearly one-third of the membership.

It would be invidious to select names of individuals, but it is permissible and proper to say that publicists, statesmen, jurists, orators, advocates and men of affairs are gone out from among us, and that the memory of them and of their services to the State remain to be cherished for all time. The best requiem that can be sung for them is to sound the roll of their names:

Otway S. Allen, William H. Boaz, Wood Bouldin, Joseph A. Bristow, William L. Cobb, H. F. Crismond, John W. Daniel, D. Q. Eggleston, Branch J. Epps, G. Taylor Garnett, John Goode, Berry

man Green, Beverly A. Hancock, John H. Ingram, George W. Jones, Gilmore S. Kendall, John W. Lawson, James W. Marshall, Charles E. Miller, Thomas J. Moncre, James Mundy, Virgilus Newton, Abraham L. Pedigo, William B. Pettit, Nathan Phillips, William N. Portlock, James B. Richmond, W. Gordon Robertson, John C. Summers, George P. Tarry, A. C. Walter, George

MAY DIE FROM WOUND
Bullet That Landed Conn, the $100,000
Burglar, Causing Trouble.

San Francisco, Cal., March 14.—Owen Conn, the "$100,000 burglar," is so seriously wounded that he may die. The bullet from a policeman's revolver that brought him down when he was caught robbing an apartment last Saturday splintered the thigh bone and ranged downward, shattering his right kneecap.

A letter to Conn from Mrs. Mabel Blacklock, of Oakland, Cal., is being Clarkson, of Chicago, who left her husband and five children to follow him, has been found among his effects. The letter indicates that the woman is now in Milwaukee, under the name of Mabel Ott, sick and destitute.

Of the woman sought by the police as Conn's companion in his California robberies, he said:

"I met her on the street two days after I came here. That's the woman the papers are saying was the chief-tainness of our 'gang.' Until a few days ago she never knew I was crooked."

ment with which to make observations and establish the exact height of the great peak, which is approximately

The party will follow the route over which Thomas Lloyd, of Fairbanks, made the first ascent in 1910, and which was followed by Professor Herschel Parker, of New York, and Belmore Brown, of Tacoma, last year, when they came within 200 feet of the summit, only to be driven back by a terrific snowstorm.
